

Death is a New Life (죽음은 새 생명)

Death is the opening of the door of new life.

Do not be sad or sorrowful.

There will be a time to meet again.

Keep your mind peaceful.

It is scattered when one bond ends

One changes one's appearance for another bond.

Life is eternal.

Only appearance changes according to Karma.

The mystery of life will be regenerated by the shape of the “JIN YEO” soul of oneself.

When spring comes, grass will be green again.

Buddhism believes that there is a truth that is transmigrated. According to this truth, death is the birth of the next life. Then, what goes to the next life?

Every human being has “JIN YEO” soul which contains one’s soul of both consciousness and unconsciousness which complement each other.

During one’s sleeping time, the soul of consciousness rests and the soul of unconsciousness works. The soul of consciousness is a way of seeing, hearing, feeling, saying and acting. The soul of unconscious stores all the information created in the past and plays a role in helping the physical organ, its function and the soul of consciousness. When one sleeps at night, the soul of consciousness does not work and the soul of unconscious works. The soul of unconscious stores all information about physical organs, their functions and events. Every human being is born by the information stored in the soul of unconsciousness in the mother’s womb after receiving the body in the next life, and one is born to the world,

As our mind contains the soul of consciousness and unconsciousness, our master is not the body but the mind. Although we cannot live in this world without consciousness, governing consciousness is the information stored in the unconscious, and there is a reason why we must be aware of the information stored in the unconscious. Our brain action is essential to consciousness of the information stored in the soul of unconscious, Therefore, if there is an abnormality in the brain activity, a problem will occur in the soul of consciousness.

Buddha had the ability to see the past life, Nowadays Tibetan Buddhism calls the reincarnation as the rebirth. In modern psychology, a technological method is being developed with hypnosis to remember one's past life. I expect that the time will come to prove the Buddhist theory of 'Rebirth' or "Reincarnation" scientifically. In conclusion, death is the birth of the next life, and therefore, death is not death.
